

Mijn naam is Adriaan de Heer (Ad)

I have recently joined (since 1 August 2017) the Supervisory Board of the HSV. I have been retired for several years now. In the past, I had a lot of education: I was a teacher of education at a PABO and after that, a teacher of primary education. As an inspector I visited many schools in The Hague and the surrounding area, and so I also learned the HSV. I find it challenging to contribute from a different position to the further development of the education quality of the HSV. The fascination of the HSV I find the diversity that is in many ways. A feature that appeals to me is entrepreneurship: new initiatives are being taken and new tasks are being addressed. In doing so, results-oriented work and the children with certain problems are not forgotten, especially for them, special methods have been developed. The international character of education fits well in a city like The Hague and is also one of the HSV's charms. I live in Poeldijk, The Hague, I am married, have four children and five grandchildren
