

My name is Pia Degn Asferg and I am a Danish Physiotherapist, a Sensory Integration Therapist as well as a SOS Approach to Feeding Therapist. Further I hold a BA (Hons) in Psychology.

I work at Lighthouse Special Education on Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays as an independent therapist and have done so since 2009. Additionally I see children from other international schools outside of school hours. I then typically help children with ADHD, CDC and Sensory Processing Disorders.

As a Physiotherapist I assess and identify areas of physical as well as Sensory Integration concerns, which are areas that are both interlinked and underlie academic learning. Sensory processing Disorder is characterized by significant difficulties in organizing sensations coming from the body and the environment and is manifested by difficulties in emotional regulation, learning, behavior and participation in daily life.

Having worked extensively with children on the autistic spectrum and following an increase in children with feeding difficulties I further trained to become an SOS Approach to Feeding therapist. The SOS Approach to Feeding <http://sosapproach-conference.com> is an evidence based, trans disciplinary program that assesses and treats children with feeding difficulties and weight/growth problems from birth to 18 years. It integrates posture, sensory, motor, behavioral/learning, medical and nutritional factors to comprehensively evaluate and manage children with feeding/growth problems. I form a small trans disciplinary team with Ching Pei Chang, who is a Speech and Language Therapist.

All intervention plans are drawn up together with both parents and other professionals in order to ensure the best intervention program, as I believe that communication and working together, as a team is the key to success for your child.
